3 Small Business Insurance Concerns Berxi Helps You Solve

When you run a small business, you want to do everything you can to protect that business. It can represent your livelihood. It can also represent the livelihood of those you employ. This is where small business and professional insurance can come in. While insurance can't protect against everything, it can offer protection when things like damages and legal fees come into play.

Berxi is a small business and professional insurance company that can help you take care of a number of insurance-related concerns. They're known for their professional liability insurance, like dentists malpractice insurance, along with coverage for the real estate industry, healthcare, and much more. They can help protect you when things potentially go awry. Here are a few small business concerns Berxi can help you solve.

Crucial Coverage for You, Your Team, and Your Business

Not too much, not too little. Berxi helps you get the right amount of coverage for your small business. Just need coverage for yourself? No problem. If you're self-employed—and the sole employee—you can get professional coverage that works for you.

You may be a solo financial planner or tax preparer. Going into tax season, you can turn to Berxi's errors and omissions (E&O) policies to help protect the business you've built.

If you're a general dentist running a full practice, complete with another dentist or two, along with dental hygienists and assistants, you can have malpractice coverage that covers your entire practice. You don't have to worry about gaps or inadequate coverage.

Coverage Across Numerous Industries

Berxi helps cover a number of small business types across several industries. You can find coverage options for the healthcare industry, dentistry, finance, real estate, and more. In short, they can help cover a number of specialized industries.

They can also help cover specialties within those industries. Are you a nurse with an advanced degree? You can get malpractice insurance nurse practitioner coverage. Are you a yoga instructor with your own studio? You can get coverage, too. The list goes on. Berxi can help take away the concern of finding the right insurance that fits within your industry.

Policies That Fit Your Budget

Some insurance policies can be costly. As you budget for the year, you may find yourself trying to make it all work without stretching things too thin. Berxi strives to build policies that fit in your budget—whether you're budgeting for just yourself or your entire business.

As you research options, you can request a quote that takes your specific situation into account. Get a quote for you and everyone on the team. Or get a quote for individual malpractice insurance for RN professionals. Berxi's quote process can be quick and easy and can help you make your next move.
