3 Ways Berxi Can Change the Way You Buy Professional Insurance

Have you started looking at professional insurance options? If you've recently started a career in a professional field like healthcare, technology, or real estate (to name a few), chances are you want professional-level insurance to go along with your burgeoning career. Or maybe you simply lacked professional insurance up until this point.

No matter your situation, Berxi may very well change the way you find and buy professional insurance. Berxi is part of Berkshire Hathaway Specialty Insurance Co. (BHSIC), renowned for its top-rated coverage for professionals of all kinds. Whether you're looking for malpractice insurance for nursing, counseling, or any of the many other fields Berxi covers, here are a few ways they're changing things.

Insurance Tailored to Your Career

Every career is different. If you're just starting your nursing career, for instance, your needs are likely different from someone who's been in the field for the past 10 years or longer. While there may not be a huge difference in the policies, with Berxi you can get the right level of insurance to better match where you're at.

If you're a student nurse, you can get nursing insurance that makes sense for you as a student. If you're an RN, again you can get a policy that makes sense. Same for nurse practitioners. This approach goes beyond nursing, too. You can get policies tailored to a variety of careers in the healthcare field, and beyond.

Accessible and Affordable Options

Some professional insurance policies are more accessible and affordable than others. Berxi has strived to be both. Accessibility can look like several different things. For Berxi, it's making policies easy to understand and use. You should know what you're signing up for. And you should be able to access your policy whenever you need to.

Berxi lays it all out in an easy-to-understand way. You don't have to dig through pages of fine print to know exactly what's in your policy. And you can access your policy 24/7. On top of all that, Berxi is built on a direct-to-customer model. Without any brokers in the middle, they can keep costs more affordable.

Support Every Step of the Way

Speaking of the direct-to-customer model, one of the big benefits of the model is the lack of brokers or third-party sales. Not only can it translate to cost savings on your part, it can also translate to more comprehensive support.

Berxi knows how much customer support can matter. If you have questions about a quote or the liability insurance for counselors you're researching, you can ask those questions—and those questions will be directed to someone who knows the insurance. It's not just someone who's selling the insurance. From there, you can continue to be in contact with the pros at Berxi when you have questions, concerns, or need help.
