4 Items High-Volume Shooters Need From Cheaper Than Dirt!

High-volume shooters are different from the average firearm owner. They're constantly training, visiting the gun range at least weekly if not multiple times every week. They put their firearms through their paces and tend to burn through a ton of ammo. As you know, ammo isn't cheap at the local sporting goods store, but it's certainly affordable at Cheaper Than Dirt! This brand offers bulk ammo and a ton of other accessories and firearms for high-volume shooters. Here are a few things high-volume shooters should pick up.

Bulk Ammo

One of the first things you need for your range day is ammo for your guns. As a high-volume shooter, you're likely looking for bulk ammo as opposed to premium rounds. This is still good-quality ammo, but you can get more for less. Cheaper Than Dirt prides itself on keeping ammo in stock so you are always ready to hit the range. Whether you need 9mm rounds, 5.56 ammo, or something else, check out the site and stock up!

Reactive Targets

As you know, shooting at the same paper targets range day after range day gets old. That's why you should check out reactive targets from Cheaper Than Dirt! They offer a wide array of reactive targets, from metal to self-healing targets. They often jump when they are hit, providing a bit of a challenge to reacquire the target and hit it again. While paper targets are essential for shooting tight groupings, when you just want to plink around, these reactive targets are the ticket.

New Firearms

Are you ready for a new range companion? Cheaper Than Dirt has you covered! If you typically shoot 9mm handguns, try bringing a 30-30 Winchester lever-action rifle. It's completely different from what you are used to and is a ton of fun to shoot. Plus, if you pair it with a revolver, you can feel like a cowboy out on the range. You can find a wide range of firearms at Cheaper Than Dirt, ready to send to the FFL of your choice. From rifles to black powder firearms, find your next favorite firearm from Cheaper Than Dirt.

Clay Throwers

Hunters fall under the high-volume shooter category as well, since you need to train during the offseason to make sure not a single shot is wasted out in the field. If you regularly hunt waterfowl, find the equipment you need to train from Cheaper Than Dirt. While you can find a handheld clay thrower on Cheaper Than Dirt, you might want to spring for a machine that throws it automatically. This results in fewer accidental throws at the ground, ensuring each clay pigeon has a chance to fly before you hit it and make the clay rain. You can also stock up on clay pigeons and decoys from Cheaper Than Dirt.
