From holding your 9mm ammo to keeping medical supplies close at hand, here are some belt pouches and accessories to look for at Cheaper Than Dirt.

Mag Pouches

You need somewhere to keep your mags full of 7.62 ammo, and keeping a mag or two on your belt makes them easy to grab for a quick reload. You can also get mag pouches for your handgun ammo. Cheaper Than Dirt offers various mag pouches for different purposes, including single, double, and triple mag pouches, along with mixed-use mag pouches if you want to hold a rifle and handgun mag together.

A Dump Pouch

A dump pouch is the unsung hero of any range belt, as you can dump just about anything in there. Dump an empty mag in it to reload later. Throw brass from expended rounds in it to hand load later. Save a sandwich in case you get hungry later. The possibilities are nearly endless and only limited by the size of your pouch. Some pouches also roll up for better storage when not in use.

A Holster

Another mainstay of a gun belt is, unsurprisingly, a gun. Specifically, a holster to hold your pistol. From 9mm handguns to big iron revolvers, you might want to keep your sidearm close at hand. It's useful for competitions or while plinking around at the range. If you're putting together a belt as a member of law enforcement or the armed forces, it's likely a requirement. You can find holsters meant for your specific handgun or universal holsters, all with different levels of retention depending on your needs.

An Individual First Aid Kit

It's better to have and not need than need and not have. That's why you should have an individual first aid kit (IFAK) With Cheaper Than Dirt, you have a few options for an individual first aid kit (IFAK). They are generally not meant for your use but rather for someone with more medical knowledge to pull off of you and use. Still, it's handy to have the items you might need should someone get hurt at the range.

A Tourniquet Pouch

Like the IFAK, having a tourniquet pouch or two can help stem blood flow in the event of an emergency. You might already have one tourniquet in the IFAK, but it's always good to have at least two on hand. There are plenty of options available from Cheaper Than Dirt, from small holders to loops that attach to IFAKs. Choose the one that's easiest to carry on your belt, and be prepared for every situation.
