CZ pistols are extremely popular, and the CZ Shadow 2 is another example of this brand's commitment to quality. Shooters love the fact that the majority of the reciprocating mass is centered on the bore, while the extra weight at the dust cover helps minimize muzzle rise.

Walther Q5 Match

The improved ergonomics and reduced recoil of the Walther Q5 Match 9mm will take your efficiency to new heights. Its steel frame features a full-length Picatinny rail, recessed slide release, and extended beavertail.

Plus, the Walther Q5 Match is ported and ready for your favorite optics, as if it had been customized just for you.

Canik SFX Rival

Shooters turn to handguns from Canik because of their reputation for delivering some of the best factory triggers out there. The Canik SFX Rival takes things even further with a lightened 90-degree diamond-cut aluminum flat trigger that's simply sublime.

This modular handgun is ready for competition right out of the box, with a ported slide that's easily manipulated thanks to its particularly aggressive serrations.

Springfield Armory Prodigy 1911 DS

What could be better than a classic 1911? A double-stack magazine, of course, allowing you a 17+1 or 20+1 capacity of 9mm ammo, as well as a performance-driven feature set built with competition shooters in mind.

No matter the conditions, you'll enjoy positive tactile engagement thanks to the wraparound Adaptive Grip Texture. After more than a century, this platform's single-action trigger remains undefeated, with a clean pull that gives you unrivaled control.

Smith & Wesson Performance Center M&P M2.0

With four interchangeable grip inserts, a ported slide and barrel, and a light rail, the latest version of the S&W M&P9 is ready for anything.

Competition shooters appreciate this evolution of the M&P for its extended, rigid embedded stainless steel chassis system, which reduces flex and torque while firing. It's also more comfortable to shoot with reduced muzzle rise and faster aim recovery thanks to its low barrel bore axis.
