

Defend Yourself in Court Against Impaired Driving Charges with Brett McGarry

Being a part of a criminal case adds a dark page to your life. However, many people who are charged in criminal cases are not the real culprits. But to discard all these charges, these people need to prove their innocence in court. For this, these individuals need an expert criminal lawyer Ottawa.

Brett McGarry is one of the best criminal lawyers in Ottawa. If there is someone who can defend you against all the criminal charges, it has to be him. He has helped many people in impaired driving cases. Here's how he makes sure that his clients get out of the struggle of criminal charges.

Building a Solid Defence:

Defending an individual against criminal charges, like impaired or drunk driving is a big challenge. Individuals who have been charged with this crime fail to successfully get out of the case. However, if you choose an expert impaired driving lawyer like Brett McGarry, the chances of being free from these charges are higher. Expert lawyers like him make sure that they work on building a solid defence instead of other associated factors. They plan every part of the defence well. Therefore, a lawyer like him is what you need in these cases.

Working on Technical Evidence:

The readings on the Intoxilyzer machine are inaccurate at times. The errors in these machines may put an innocent individual in a tough spot. Moreover, it could lead to court hearings. However, defence lawyers make sure that the wrong readings on the machine are not against you. They hire a toxicology expert to make sure that you were charged unnecessarily with impaired or drunk driving charges. Brett McGarry has helped many of his clients stuck in drunk driving and impaired driving cases with his ability to work on technical evidence. As a result, he was able to win many cases.
