From Ranch to Long-Range: 4 Daniel Defense® AR-Style Rifles for Different Shooters

The AR-style rifle platform offers a wide range of utility, and it can excel at many tasks. Whether you need a ranch gun or are in a long-range shooting competition, Daniel Defense® offers AR-style rifles for every need. From the MK12 rifle for long-range precision to warding off hogs on the farm with the DDM4 PDW SBR, here's a look at a few popular Daniel Defense® ARs.

Long Range: MK12 Rifle

Hitting long-range targets often means you want a longer barrel for better accuracy. The Daniel Defense® MK12 is the best AR-style rifle for extended-range accuracy. The 18-inch Stainless Steel Cold Hammer Forged barrel is joined by a 12-inch free-floating Picatinny quad rail so you can enjoy stable shots and quick target acquisition. Meanwhile, the Geissele SSA 2-Stage Trigger gives you another advantage for precise fire. Add the optic of your choice, and you will be all set to hit steel way out from a distance.

The DIY: AR15 Upper Receiver

Would you rather assemble an AR from the ground up? Daniel Defense® can help. Start with the lower of your choice, then select an AR15 upper receiver chambered in the same caliber as the lower. Length, type of hand guard, and optics are all considerations for which upper receiver you choose. You can assemble the perfect AR rifle with Daniel Defense® components, knowing your DIY AR will be high-quality, reliable, durable, and accurate.

Ranch Gun: DDM4 PDW SBR

Do you need a smaller AR to throw in your truck while driving around your ranch? The DDM4 PDW SBR is for you. An NFA-controlled item, the PDW SBR is a short-barreled rifle ideal for taking with you as you drive around your land. Chambered in 300 Blackout, it's excellent for loading subsonic rounds, so you won't scare your livestock. The highly maneuverable PDW SBR has a 6-inch flat front rail for accessories but doesn't compromise fast handling, accuracy, or reliability.

Hunting: DD5 V4 Hunter

You likely want a higher caliber than the typical 556 if you are hunting larger game like elk. A 308 AR offers the power of a higher caliber without compromising accuracy and handling. The DD5 V4 Hunter is a fast-handling rifle perfect for hunting North American big-game animals. The bolt carrier group helps reduce overall recoil impulse, helping you place follow-up shots quickly and accurately. This rifle comes with the accuracy, reliability, and precision that Daniel Defense® is known for and will be your go-to rifle when it comes time to pack for a hunting trip.
