

Studying LLM in UK: Everything You Need to Know!

LLM is the abbreviation for master of legislative laws. The degree provides you with ultimate knowledge of a particular law field. The purpose of pursuing an LLM degree is basically to become a lawyer/solicitor in a particular field. It is also pursued by the students who want to become a professor in Universities.

The degree of LLM can be pursued in any part of the world. Indian students who want to study LLM abroad can pursue it easily. If you are looking for studying LLM in UK, then this is also an excellent option for law students. LLM course in UK are well designed and provides more practical & real knowledge than a theoretical one.

There are various universities in the UK that are recognized by the bar council of India. This provides an opportunity for Indian students to study in UK and practice in India. This allows the student to practice as a lawyer or solicitor in any part of Europe too

Understanding the Term ‘Law’

Every course has its own benefit, so studying law too has. The studies of law not only improve the knowledge of the person but also his personality. Some of the benefits are:

- Enhances your prestige

The field of Law is a highly reputed one. If you become an excellent lawyer then you will be consulted on every local, national or international issue. This not only makes you a distinctive person in society but also a prestigious one.

- Personality grooming

A super lawyer has an interesting personality. He is the person who stands out from the crowd. The personality is groomed because of a better understanding of the law field. The implementation of the law on the right scale also provides knowledge regarding an individual's personality.

- Employment

Becoming a lawyer is a lucrative career option. This field has the 6th highest employment rate. Also, the Law field has the highest emoluments if you become an excellent lawyer or a judge.

- Make you aware

Studying law will enable your mind to know various laws of which a person may or may not be aware of. This not only makes you a responsible person but also makes you a knowledgeable person. By studying law you can very well know the importance of right and wrong. Also, you can make others aware of this too.

Comparison between Studying LLM in India and Studying LLM in UK

The LLM degree has some differentiation if pursued in the home country or the foreign country. Different countries have different laws and rules. So studying LLM in a different country will provide you with extensive knowledge of that country. Some of the differences between the Indian LLM and UK LLM degrees are:

- To pursue a law degree in India, students need to appear for the CLAT exam. Whereas in the UK, there is no such exam present.
- Pursuing LLM from India allows you to practise in India only. Whereas pursuing LLM in UK, allows you to practise in entire Europe and as well as in India too.
- The Universities in the UK provide real case exposure to the students. Whereas in India this exposure is absent.
- Indian LLM colleges focus on the Indian constitution and other laws. Whereas the UK LLM courses do not focus on any constitution.
- In the UK, the LLM courses in UK have various specialisations whereas only some are present in India.
- The time period of Indian LLM is 2 years whereas the UK LLM takes a year only to complete.

Top Universities for LLM Course in UK

- University Of East London (UEL)
- University of Birmingham
- Birmingham City University (BCU)
- University of West London (UWL) – Thames valley university
- Buckingham university
- University of Wales College of Cardiff
- City university of London
- University of Hertfordshire
- Council for national Academic awards
- University of Bristol
- Hull university
- University of Durham
- Inns of courts school of Law
- University of Lancaster
- Leeds University
- Leicester University
- London University

Looking to study abroad? Consult Meridean Overseas, your trusted study abroad consultant. Discover exciting opportunities and receive expert guidance. Contact us today!

Email :- application02@meridean.org

Contact no :- 1800 1230 00011