Let's check out more about how birth charts can lead you to your life partner in detail right here.

Marriage Astrology – Starting from Kundali –

As said earlier, marriage is a special aspect of life for everyone and that's the reason people get so many questions about marriage till they don't get married. Even after getting married, people have certain queries that keep going till the last breath of a person. But, the matter of fact is; marriage astrology has answers to each question you might have in your mind.

So, whenever you meet a good astrologer or connect with an online astrology consultation platform like Karma Astro App, the first thing you would require to share is your correct date of birth or Kundali. If you don't have Kundali with you, then with astrology apps, you can create free Kundali online as well.

7th House of Kundali & Its Relationship with Life Partner of Native –

When it comes to a house that is dedicated to this sacred relationship — Marriage — it is only the 7th house of Kundali. 7th house gives a clear glimpse to native's marriage life and also a sneak peek of how the future spouse would be. Along with that, it also tells what type of life you would lead after marriage. Thus for marriage astrology, 7th house finds the utmost consideration in prediction.

As said above, 7th house tells how your married life is going to be. That means if your marriage will be a happy marriage or there will be tears all around, everything can be predicted from there. With the influence of Benefic planets to this house, the marriage becomes full of happy moments, but the presence of malefic planets results the other way.

If the 7th house has blessings of Venus, Moon, Mercury and Jupiter, it represents positivity in married life as they bring good vibes between the couple. However, the presence or influences of planets like Saturn, Rahu, Ketu, Sun and Mars drive sorrow and dissatisfaction to a marriage. Such influences often bring differences between couples and lead them to face compatibility issues often.

Different Planetary Influences In 7th House of Kundali –

Let's check out how different planets' placement to 7th house affects a marriage or what consequences a couple might face with their respective influence.

Effect of the Sun in 7th House — The influence of the Sun in this house indicates a powerful spouse who has got an immense ego. Such natives experience the aggressiveness or loudness of their spouse and sometimes, it appears to be positive as well. But, there are times when such a combination leads to a complex marriage.

Effect of the Moon — If Moon is placed in 7th house, it indicates for the future life partner to be religious, caring and participant in home related issues. They are also fond of jewellery and good clothing. Moreover, if this house is under the Taurus Zodiac sign's influence, it signifies a partner to be kind in nature.

Mars Planet's Effect in 7th House — With this influence, the future life partner would be a little clumsy in acting quickly and would lack patience. Sticking to a particular routine is not something easy for them. Even if Mars' placement is not good, it leads the future life partner to be argumentative with a bad friend circle. They could be quite rich and sometimes have partners outside marriage.

Mercury — With this placement in 7th house, the native is blessed with a good communicator with qualities like being smart, outgoing and having a good social circle. The strong Mercury in this house indicates for your partner to be rich with a luxurious lifestyle.

Jupiter – With Jupiter's effect in the 7th house, you can expect your partner to be physically attractive with a good physique and average height. These people find more interest in studies and exploring new stuff. In your relationship, you would experience contentment from your partner.

Venus — Venus' placement in the 7th house is regarded as a fortunate placement. The life partner of such natives is often blessed with good looks, a lot of wealth and attractive personality.

Saturn — The placement of Saturn in this house leads to a complex married life with unfavourable circumstances which might drag you to separation. Though a strong Saturn could bring auspicious results, but if it is weak, the outcomes would be disastrous.

Rahu — The influence of Rahu often delays the marriage and even after marriage, brings a lot of discontentment. Owing to this effect, your future life partner might encounter unnecessary difficulty in life with unseen challenges and compatibility concerns.

Ketu — The presence of Ketu indicates a spiritual spouse; however, they are less likely to have a clear mind with various things

Conclusion –

Thus, we can conclude that to predict a love marriage astrology, 7th house and its consideration with various planets find the maximum attention because it keeps all the secrets about your spouse or future partner.
