

Make Your Dream Bathroom a Reality

Designing your dream bathroom will take lots of planning and hard work. Bathrooms no longer function as only the shower and toilet space; it has evolved into living spaces now. In these stressful lives, the bathroom plays an important role in grounding us. It is a great place in the home where you can indulge in personal time to rejuvenate, relax, and re-energize. The bathroom is used daily by every member of the family. So, it deserves just as much attention and planning as any other room. And don't worry about the cleaning, as you can always hire professional bathroom cleaning services in Chennai anytime you wish.

A stylish and comfortable bathroom can be designed by thoughtful arrangement and layout of materials, fixtures, lighting, and color. A dream bathroom should be easy to use, ergonomic, safe, and a sense of one's personal style. Due to increasing urbanization, space has now become a luxury. Everyone nowadays is looking to innovate and optimize the given space for their bathroom. A typical bathroom requires clever use of the space to fit all the desired features, making it look fabulous and comfortable at the same time. If you are designing from scratch or re-modeling, follow these tips to build your dream bathroom:

The Layout:

The very first step is to understand the available space for the bathroom. A well-designed bathroom not only looks good but is functional too. Take proper measurements and assess what fixtures you want to install according to usability. You need to install the toilet, vanity, basin, bathtub (if you want), shower, etc. You need to know who will be using the bathroom and what will be convenient. If you are a single person, a shower space is good enough. If you have kids, having a bathtub will be adequate.

For the vanity, a floor-installed one will provide more storage; while a wall-mounted vanity will make more space on the floor, making your bathroom look bigger. You also need to have some storage area near the shower and toilet, to keep your toiletries and housekeeping products.

If you don't have the space to accommodate both the bathtub and shower area, you can fix a shower head over the bathtub, and enjoy both. Just add a glass panel or curtain to prevent water from splashing out of the tub. You also need to carefully consider the lighting and ventilation systems to avoid cluttering the place.

The Lightning:

Lightning plays a vital role in the way we feel around it and how the place is perceived. It sets the bathroom's functionality and mood. Good lighting can make smaller bathrooms look bigger and brighter. You need to choose different lightning based on the activities you perform at different parts of the bathroom. You need to ensure your bathroom embraces the natural lightning, then think of the lightning you will require.

Around the basin area, your makeup and grooming activities are performed. So a high-intensity bright light will be useful. A warmer and relaxing light near the shower area or bathtub will help you indulge in your relaxation time. For the natural light, you can fix a skylight or window. Dimmers are one of the best options for switching among the different activities you will be doing.

The Interior:

Choose the color, design, and pattern that complement the rest of your home and reflect your personality. Choose something that matches your style and enhances the layout without compromising the bathroom's functionality.

Light colors will reflect more light, making the space more inviting and bigger. Dark colors absorb most of the light, making the space look smaller and denser. Muted tone color will provide coziness to the place, while vibrant colors will provide a playful touch.

Textures and patterns need to be carefully considered as they can trick your eye to make the bathroom smaller or bigger. Large, rectangular-shaped tiles provide a sophisticated, modern, and premium style. Smaller tiles can be installed to create accent walls and add unique details.

Functionality:

As one of the busiest rooms in the house, the bathroom needs to be organized and hygienic. Apart from your regular cleaning, every once in a while you need to hire professional toilet cleaners in Chennai to maintain a fresh and healthy environment.

If you have a small space, try the wall mounting fixtures rather than a floor covering. To make it less cluttered inside the vanity, you can have your toiletries and beauty products on display. Choose those fixtures that take up little space and elevate the interior. For those with bigger space, experiment with a wide range of materials and equipment. You can install showpieces for decoration or just install bigger fixtures to make it look more elegant.

A stylish bathroom is a luxury that can be achieved with good planning and techniques. For a classy bathroom, you need to have a clear idea and great imagination to make your dream turn into reality. With the tips we have provided, you can have your desired bathroom, also within budget.
