

MBBS in Australia

Are you an aspiring medical professional looking for a world-class education that provides a holistic learning experience? Look no further than Australia. With its excellent education system and state-of-the-art medical facilities, Australia has become a popular destination for international students pursuing MBBS.

The highly qualified faculty and advanced research centers ensure that students receive a top-notch education that prepares them for the medical field's challenges.

The Medical Council of India has evaluated the validity of MBBS studies in Australia. Hence, studying MBBS in Australia is a fantastic alternative for Indian students. If an Indian student decides to return home and work as a doctor here, they may do so without having to pass the MCI screening test.

Studying Medicine in Australia

- Demand:
Australia's need for physicians has been steadily increasing over the previous five years, and it is expected to continue to rise in upcoming years. As a result, individuals who choose to wait will have an excellent opportunity.
- Highly paid professionals:

With an average yearly compensation of 215,000 AUD, the payscale for doctors is the highest in Australia.

- World-Class Education System:
Australian universities offer an excellent education system that ranks among the top in the world. The medical programs are designed to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the human body, diseases, and medical treatments.
- Practical Training Opportunities:
Australian medical universities offer plenty of opportunities for students to gain practical experience. Students have access to state-of-the-art medical facilities, advanced equipment, and research centers that provide a hands-on approach to learning.
- Highly Qualified Faculty:
The medical faculties in Australian universities are highly qualified and experienced professionals who are dedicated to providing quality education to their students.
- High Employment Prospects:
Graduates from Australian medical universities are highly regarded by employers worldwide due to their practical training and excellent education.
- Multicultural Environment:
Studying in Australia offers a multicultural experience that exposes students to diverse cultures, people, and lifestyles, which helps broaden their horizons.
- Age:
The minimum age requirement is 17 years at the time of admission.
- Academic Qualifications:
Students must have completed high school education with science subjects such as physics, chemistry, and biology. The minimum requirement is an aggregate of 70% or above in the science subjects.
- English Language Proficiency:
Students must have a good command of the English language. Most Australian universities accept English proficiency tests such as IELTS, TOEFL, or PTE. The minimum requirement for IELTS is an overall score of 6.5 or above.
- Entrance Exam:
Some universities require students to clear the Undergraduate Medicine and Health Sciences Admission Test (UMAT) or Graduate Australian Medical School Admissions Test (GAMSAT).
- Visa Requirements:

International students must apply for a student visa before entering Australia. The visa requirements and application process can vary depending on the student's country of origin.

It is important to note that the eligibility criteria can vary depending on the university and the course you choose to study. Hence, it is recommended that students research the specific requirements of the university they are interested in before applying.

Documents Required to Apply for the MBBS in Australia

- 10 + 2 certified marksheets and their copies
- A letter of reference about your academics from any professor
- Experience Letters with recommendations from supervisors (if any)
- Statement of purpose
- Updated resume
- Copies of IELTS / UKCAT scores
- A photocopy of a legitimate passport
- A personal statement that explains why you're visiting Australia
- A photocopy of your prior VISA (in case of availability)
- Evidence of financial capability

Fees for Studying MBBS in Australia

Studying MBBS in Australia can be a significant investment for international students. The fees for MBBS programs can vary depending on the university, course duration, and whether the student is an international or domestic student.

In addition to tuition fees, students will also need to consider other costs such as accommodation, food, transport, and healthcare.

To support students financially, many universities in Australia offer scholarships and bursaries to international students. These scholarships can cover a portion or all of the tuition fees and are typically awarded based on academic merit or financial need.

Universities	Fees Per Year (in AUD)
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The University of Melbourne 	94,756
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The Australian National University Medical School 	84,000
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Monash University 	77,000
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The University of Sydney 	80,000
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Deakin University 	24,840
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> University of Tasmania 	80,000
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> University of New South Wales 	75,000
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> University of Adelaide 	80,000
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> James Cook University of Medical School 	1,10,000
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Bond University 	37,326

Application Process to apply for the MBBS in Australia

Once you gather all the essential information, you should start applying for your dream universities.

Research:

The first step is to research the universities that offer MBBS programs in Australia. Students should consider the university's location, ranking, tuition fees, and entry requirements.

Application Form:

Once the student has selected the university they wish to apply to, they need to fill out the application form available on the university's website.

Supporting Documents:

Along with the application form, students are required to submit their academic transcripts, English proficiency certificate, passport, letters of recommendation, and statement of purpose.

Entrance Exam:

Some universities require students to clear the Undergraduate Medicine and Health Sciences Admission Test (UMAT) or Graduate Australian Medical School Admissions Test (GAMSAT). Also test for the IELTS.

Interview:

After the initial screening process, some universities may conduct interviews to assess the student's suitability for the program.

Acceptance:

If their application is successful, the applicant will receive an acceptance letter from the university.

Visa Application:

International students must apply for a student visa before entering Australia. The visa requirements and application process can vary depending on the student's country of origin.

Intakes in Australia

The Australian government enables overseas students to apply for admission to universities 3 times.

- February Intake
- July Intake
- November Intake

Yet, July Intake & February Intake are in the top places because the majority of the universities open their doors during these intakes.

Scholarships for MBBS in Australia

There are several scholarships available for international students who wish to pursue an MBBS program in Australia. Some of the most popular scholarships include:

Australia Awards Scholarships: These scholarships are offered by the Australian government and provide financial support to students from selected countries. The scholarship covers tuition fees, travel expenses, and a living allowance.

University-specific Scholarships: Many universities in Australia offer scholarships to international students based on academic merit, financial need, or a combination of both. These scholarships can cover tuition fees, living expenses, and other related costs.

Equity Scholarships: These scholarships are designed to support students who have faced financial or other disadvantages. They are typically awarded based on criteria such as academic performance, financial need, and personal circumstances.

Endeavour Postgraduate Scholarship: This scholarship is offered by the Australian government and provides financial support to international students who wish to pursue postgraduate studies, including MBBS programs, in Australia.

Studying MBBS in Australia is an excellent option for aspiring doctors who want to receive a high-quality medical education in a world-class setting. Australia's universities offer rigorous and comprehensive MBBS programs that are internationally recognized and accredited. Meridean Overseas is a well-known education consultant with a large network of partner MBBS universities in Australia. They can help you with everything from selecting the right university to applying for your visa and finding accommodation. Meridean have a team of experienced consultants who can help you with every step of the process, from selecting the right university to applying for your visa.

For more information related to scholarships, eligibility, application process in Australia, You can mail us at application02@meridean.org or call our toll-free no. 1800-1230-00011.