Temporary Resident Visa (TRV) 101: Everything You Need to Know

Canada is a beautiful country with a lot to offer visitors. Whether you're interested in exploring the cities, hiking in the mountains, or relaxing on the beach, Canada has something for everyone.

If you're planning a trip to Canada, you'll need to apply for a Temporary Resident Visa. A TRV is a document issued by the Canadian government that allows you to enter Canada for a temporary purpose. Temporary purposes include tourism, study, and work.

What is a Temporary Resident Visa?

A Temporary Resident Visa or TRV is a visa that is affixed to your passport. It allows you to enter Canada for a specific purpose and for a specific period of time. The purpose of your trip will determine the type of TRV you need to apply for.

Who needs a Temporary Resident Visa?

If you are not a Canadian citizen or permanent resident, and you are not from a visa-exempt country, you will need to apply for a TRV to enter Canada.

How to apply for a Temporary Resident Visa?

You can apply for a TRV online or by mail. The application process is different for each country, so you should check with the Canadian government website for specific instructions.

What are the requirements for a Temporary Resident Visa?

The requirements for a TRV vary depending on your purpose of travel. However, some general requirements include:

Contact Here!

You must have a valid passport.
You must pay the application fee.
You must provide proof of financial support.
You must provide proof of ties to your home country.
You may need to provide a police clearance certificate.

How long is a TRV valid for?

The length of validity of a TRV depends on your purpose of travel and your ties to your home country. However, most TRVs are valid for six months.

Can I extend my stay in Canada on a TRV?

Yes, you can apply to extend your stay in Canada on a TRV. You must apply for an extension at least 30 days before your current TRV expires.

Can I study or work in Canada on a TRV?

In general, you cannot study or work in Canada on a TRV. However, there are some exceptions. For example, you may be able to study in Canada for less than six months without a study permit. You may also be able to work in Canada if you have a valid work permit.

Can I enter Canada with a Temporary Resident Visa and eventually apply for permanent residence?

Yes, you can enter Canada with a Temporary Resident Visa (TRV) and eventually apply for permanent residence. Having dual intent is legitimate.

However, the possibility that you may at some point be approved for permanent residence does not remove your obligation to meet the requirements of a temporary resident, specifically the requirement to leave Canada at the end of your authorized stay.
