Decode Emirates Group Booking Policy

When you try to fly with your loved ones, the first question that hits your mind is how to fly with them while saving your resources and efforts. To effortlessly submit the Emirates Group Booking request form, you need to have a proper understanding of the group booking policy. Let's get into the core of policies without further ado.

- Emirates makes group flight bookings a breeze by allowing you to reserve for 10 or more people without imposing any hidden clause. If you have a smaller group of 9 or fewer, you can reserve them under general bookings without the requirement to fill out forms or request quotes.
- Group booking does not mean you all get seated together. If you wish to be with your circle, you need to submit the Emirates Seat Selection form at least four to five days before departure or submit it at the time of booking.
- Bookings can only be made if you initiate the form in advance. If you submit a request nearer the time of departure, you might not achieve the desired result. The airline allows group bookings on all fare types, including Economy, Business, or First Class. However, the booking needs to be made on one itinerary.

How to submit the Emirates Group Booking form at the airport?

You can easily submit the group form online, but if you need in-person support, the best option is to make a group booking at the Emirates Center. For this, you need to reach the dedicated desk and implement the following steps:

- First, you will need to convey the number of passengers who are entitled to one itinerary.
- Group booking is allowed only if 10 or more people are looking to fly to one zone or a single final destination.
- Share the name of each passenger with age and gender with passport IDs.
- The agent will note down all shared information and fill out the group booking form on your behalf.
- Make payment and secure your booking. You will receive confirmation on a shared email ID.
