As planetary effects are widely-accepted in marriage, you can expect a concrete answer related to marriage if you choose an astrological consultation for delay marriage from a reputed astrologer. Let's read more about this topic right in this article.

Why Is There a Delay in Marriage?

Delays in tying the knot can be a big concern for many individuals who are at marriage age. These marriage delays may stem from multiple astrological factors and planetary alignments within your Kundali. When the auspicious Yogas which are related to marriage are afflicted by malefic influences of malefic planets, it often results with prolonged periods of waiting or obstacles on the path to getting married.

Moreover, many astrologers have acknowledged one common astrological indication for delays in marriage is the presence of no marriage yoga in Kundali. Yes, this is one dotted Yoga in Kundali indicating for no marriage of the native in life.

By considering marriage astrology from a qualified astrologer, you can get your Kundali explored on this subject and find out if there is any such Yoga available to implement an astrological remedy timely.

However, the no marriage yoga or any other marriage related Yogas can manifest in different forms like the absence of benefic planets in main horoscope houses related to marriage or the influence of malefic planets on significant marriage-related placements. Additionally, unfavourable positions of the seventh house of horoscope which governs marriage and partnerships and relationships can contribute to delays or challenges in finding a suitable life partner.

To address these marriage delays as indicated by your Kundali or Birth Chart, you can explore various astrological remedies and solutions which are aimed at appeasing planetary energies and removing all negative influences.

Consulting with an experienced astrologer specialising in marriage astrology can provide valuable insights into the specific planetary configurations which are said to be contributing to the delay in marriage and offer personalised remedies based on your specific Kundali or birth chart.

In addition, we also suggest following daily horoscopes as it can also provide guidance and insights into favourable periods for initiating marriage-related endeavours and address obstacles on the path to marriage.

Which Graha is Responsible for Delay in Marriage?

According to Vedic astrology, there are several planets or Grahas which can contribute to delays in marriage, however, it depends on their placements and influences within the birth chart. In all Grahas influencing marriage delay, Saturn (Shani) Graha is often considered as a highly responsible Graha for delay in marriage.

Though Saturn is known as the planet of discipline, responsibility, and karmic lessons, its influence can bring about delays, challenges, and lessons that one has to learn before stepping into a marriage or a marital union.

When Saturn enters the seventh house in Kundali which governs marriage and partnerships or when Saturn forms conjunctions with the Venus for males and Jupiter for females as they are the symbolic of marriage it can indicate delays or difficulties in finding a suitable life partner or in the process of getting married.

The effect and influence of Saturn Grahas tends to bring seriousness and practicality into relationships. That means, it sometimes leads native to prioritise career, stability, or personal growth over immediate marriage.

Additionally, Saturn's placement in certain houses or its aspect on other marriage-related planets can signify the need for patience, perseverance, and maturity before entering into a lifelong commitment.

Which Kundali Dosha Causes Delay in Marriage?

Mangal Dosha or Kuja Dosha is one of the prominent Kundali Doshas which lead to marriage delay for native. If your Kundali shows Mangal Dosha then the influence of said Dosha will create obstacles in finding suitable matches for marriage or marriage will delay for different reasons.

Basically, Mangal Dosha occurs when the planet Mars (Mangal) is positioned in certain houses notably the first, fourth, seventh, eighth, or twelfth houses within the Kundali of a native. When Mars is placed in these specific houses, it is believed to exert its assertive energy in a complex manner which potentially causes obstacles and delays in matters related to marriage. Mangal Dosha is particularly significant when present in the seventh house as it governs marriage in particular and with this Dosha, you can expect certain delays, disagreements, or challenges in finding a suitable life partner or in the process of getting married.

Natives whose Kundali shows the presence of Mangal are often advised to seek astrological remedies and specific precautions to eliminate the Dosha effects and enhance marital prospects. Remedies for Mangal Dosha may include performing specific rituals like wearing gemstones which are associated with Mars (such as red coral), fasting on Tuesdays as the day ruled by Mars, and marrying someone who also has Mangal Dosha, as it is believed to cancel out the negative effects.
